National Trails Day offers residents an up-close look at some of the living things that might be encountered along the Town's trails and greenways.

JOIN THE RUN on TRAILS DAY

5K walk/run added to activities planned for June 1

The Town of Wake Forest will celebrate National Trails Day on Saturday, June 1, at E. Carroll Joyner Park, 701 Harris Road from 9 a.m.–1 p.m. Wake Forest has celebrated National Trails Day for five years and this year, organizers have added a 5K walk/run to the festivities.

Run Wake Forest, Run!

The National Trails Day 5K walk/run starts at 8 a.m. The course will be run mostly within Joyner Park. Strollers are welcome but will be placed at the back of the pack.

Race proceeds will support the maintenance of current greenways and development of new greenways in Wake Forest.

Pre-registration is open through June 1. Race t-shirts are guaranteed to those that register by May 24. To register, visit wakeforestnc.gov and search "trails day 5k".

Environmental Expo

National Trails Day will include a free Environmental Education Expo featuring interactive stations. Set up throughout the park, the stations will offer both children and adults a unique opportunity to experience the wonders of nature while learning about the environment. Get an up-close look at some of the living things you might encounter along the Town's trails and greenways. Examine reptiles and amphibians and learn about their tracks and signs at an exhibit from the NC Museum of Natural Sciences. Learn how to identify song birds.

Also, create a fishing line container. See camping exhibits, reptiles and more.

Kids who pick up a passport at the Greenways Advisory Board booth and have it stamped at 10 stations will be eligible for a prize (while supplies last).

History comes to life during the Historic Wake Forest Cemetery Walking Tour

The annual Historic Wake Forest Cemetery Walking Tour returns on Saturday, May 11, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The self-guided tour provides an excellent opportunity to explore the historic Wake Forest Cemetery at 400 N. White St. while docents are on hand to share stories about specific gravesites.

Sponsored by the Wake Forest Cemetery Advisory Board and the Town of Wake Forest, the annual Cemetery Walking Tour offers unique insight into the lives of Wake Forest residents from generations past.

Representatives of the Wake Forest Junior ROTC, under the direction of Colonel Dimitri Belmont, will appear as color guard in the opening ceremony. The JROTC will also provide parking and other assistance.

Tour-day activity for kids

Parents are encouraged to bring their children. A special tour-day activity is available at the information table. The activity helps educate young guests about the historical significance of the cemetery as they locate specific places and interesting architectural details on headstones.

Admission is free.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Lime's bike-sharing program ends in Wake Forest

Lime (formerly known as LimeBike) has ended its bike-sharing program in Wake Forest. In March, the dockless bike share company known for its bright green-colored bicycles notified the Town that it would end its pilot program.

"Lime communicated to us that it is focusing on scooters now, instead of bikes," said Transportation Planning Manager Suzette Morales.

In April 2018, the Town entered into an agreement that allowed Lime to offer bicycles for a fee anywhere in the town limits. As part of the initiative, Lime brought approximately 200 bicycles to Wake Forest and placed them in clusters in high traffic areas around town.

Now, less than 12 months later, Lime has removed its bikes and left town.

Morales said Wake Forest may consider exploring a partnership with a dock-based bikeshare company in the future, but for now nothing has been decided.

Honoring the sacrifices of deceased Wake Forest veterans and their families.

POLICE

Park in the direction of traffic flow or risk a fine

Police officials are urging Wake Forest motorists to park in the direction of traffic flow or risk a $25 fine.

Wording in Sec. 30-251 of the Town's Code of Ordinances addresses "Parking in direction of traffic flow:"

"Parking shall be established in the direction of traffic flow on all streets within corporate limits of the Town of Wake Forest with passenger side (right) tires to the curb on two-way streets."

The grey vehicle pictured above is parked illegally.

In summary, on a two-way road, you must park with the right-hand wheels next to the right-side curb. Otherwise, you are parked illegally.

Anyone observed by law enforcement to be parking against the flow of traffic will be subject to a $25 fine.

The initiative is designed to reduce the potential for traffic accidents caused when illegally parked motorists pull head-on into oncoming traffic.

POLICE

No parking in "access aisles" of handicap parking spaces

Wake Forest officials are urging area motorists to pay attention to an updated "no parking" ordinance or risk a hefty fine.

Sec. 30-53 of the Town's Code of Ordinances pertains to "No Parking & Safety Zones:"

"Whenever authorized signs or markings are placed, erected or installed indicating no parking or safety zones, no driver of a vehicle shall disobey the regulations in connection with such signs or markings."

Drivers who park illegally on yellow hatched lines are subject to a $250 fine.

During its regular monthly meeting in January, the Board of Commissioners adopted an addition to the law that addresses the growing problem of vehicles parking in the access aisles of handicap parking spaces. Those access aisles are painted with diagonal hatch marks to discourage parking in them.

The updated ordinance specifically prohibits all motorists, regardless of whether the driver and/or the passenger(s) have a disability plate or placard, from parking in the access aisles of handicap parking spaces:

Anyone observed by law enforcement parking in an access aisle is subject to a $250 fine.
